Pas facile d'être un fantôme!

It's Not Easy Being a Ghost

Life isn't always easy—even for a ghost! In this adorable picture book, a ghost discovers that happiness comes from within! The perfect way to celebrate Halloween with your littlest trick or treaters!

Misty the Ghost is feeling sad. The haunted house she lives in is cold and damp. Spiders have taken over her living room. And worst of all, nobody thinks she is spooky. They think she is (gasp!) CUTE. But after trying to disguise herself as a mummy, a werewolf, and a witch—with hilarious results—Misty learns that true happiness comes from just being herself.

Featuring a comical cast of animal characters—plus a little bat sidekick with a BIG attitude for readers to find hidden on every page—this picture book about self-acceptance and overcoming obstacles makes a sweetly spooky treat for young readers!

MARILYN SADLER is a children's book author, television producer, and screenwriter. Among the dozens of books she has written are Pas facile d'être un fantôme!, It's Not Easy Being a Bunny, It's Not Easy Being Santa Claus, and It's Not Easy Being a Leprechaun. Her picture book Zenon: Girl of the 21st Century inspired the classic Disney Channel movie of the same name. Ms. Sadler's work has received many honors, including an IRA Classroom Choice Award and a Parents' Choice Award.

STEPH LABERIS is a character designer for animation and kidlit illustrator based in Northern California. Her artwork reflects her love for animals and there's usually a chance to spot a cameo from one of her pet cats, rats, or dogs in her books! When she's not drawing, she enjoys tabletop gaming, glass working, and doting on the squirrels in her backyard—who seem to have adopted her.

Petits souliers

Little Shoes

From the bestselling and Governor General's Award-winning author of Ligne de trappe comes a beautifully told picture book about a boy's journey to overcome generational trauma of residential schools.

Deep in the night, when James should be sleeping, he tosses and turns. He thinks about big questions, like why we don't feel dizzy when the Earth spins. He looks at the stars outside his bedroom and thinks about the Night Sky Stories his kōkom has told him. He imagines being a moshom himself. On nights like these, he follows the moonlit path to his mother's bedroom. They talk and they cuddle, and they fall asleep just like that.

One day, James's kōkom takes him on a special walk with a big group of people. It's called a march, and it ends in front of a big pile of things: teddy bears, flowers, tobacco ties, and little shoes. Kōkom tells James that this is a memorial in honor of Indigenous children who had gone to residential schools and boarding schools but didn't come home. He learns that his kōkom was taken away to one of these schools with her sister, who also didn't come home.

That night, James can't sleep so he follows the moonlit path to his mother. She explains to James that at residential school when Kōkom felt alone, she had her sister to cuddle, just like they do. And James falls asleep gathered in his mother's arms.

Includes an author note discussing the inspiration for the book.

DAVID A. ROBERTSON is the author of numerous books for young readers including the two Governor General Literary Award-winning picture books Ligne de trappe and When We Were Alone, both illustrated by Julie Flett. He also wrote Le chant vers la maison, a picture book illustrated by Maya McKibbin. His middle-grade fantasy series, La saga Misewa, has received great acclaim and award attention. A sought-after speaker and educator, David is a member of Norway House Cree Nation and lives in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

MAYA MCKIBBIN is a Two-Spirited multidisciplinary animator and illustrator living on the unceded traditional territories of the x̣ẉməθḳẉəỵəm, Sḳwx̣ẉ7mesh and sə̣lilwətał Nations. They are Irish-settler, Ojibwe with roots in White Earth Nation and diaspora from Zacatecas in Mexico. They grew up in ch'atlich and later in the southwest of England. Maya illustrated the picture books Swift Fox All Along, written by Rebecca Thomas, which was nominated for a Governor General's Literary Award, and Le chant vers la maison, written by David A. Robertson. Maya's work has also appeared in graphic novels and comics, including Image Comics' The Silver Coin #5, Salmon Run, Shades of Fear, and Amanda Strong's adaptation of Four Faces of the Moon.

Les lumières de la nuit

Lights at Night

In this bedtime picture book, join two special families on an illuminating journey through the year as they explore all the different lights we see at night.

It is dark...until street lamps turn on, one, two, three. Red light, green light, yellow light—then, suddenly, lightning strikes! Our porch light guides us home, and while we sleep, the stars of the spring sky emerge, along with new babies, their faces lit by the night. In summer, our faces shine in the campfire light while fireworks burst above us. In autumn, we shiver and cheer under the towering lights of the football field and trick-or-treat on paths lit by the flickering smiles of pumpkins. And in winter, candles and holiday lights gleam but are dwarfed by the majesty of the aurora.

This sweet, beautifully illustrated picture book—a perfect pick for introducing the seasons and seasonal activities and events—explores the simple joys we experience throughout the year when we share them with those we love.

TASHA HILDERMAN graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in English from the University of Saskatchewan. A member of SCBWI and co-owner of a home retail store and garden café in Lloydminster, Tasha has been a panelist and featured speaker at numerous business-industry events, including the 2019 Facebook Communities Summit at Facebook's Menlo, California headquarters. She is of Métis descent through her mother's side and a registered member of the Métis Nation of Alberta, and lives with her husband and three children in Alberta.

MAGGIE ZENG is a Montreal-based illustrator, animator, visual development artist, and graphic designer. She has illustrated multiple picture books, including Karl Subban's The Hockey Skates. A student and teaching assistant at Concordia University studying film animation, Maggie has also created graphic and concept art for Nanomonx, a digital education firm, as well as animation and concept art for multiple independent films and video games.

Les amis qui faisaient du camping

Camping In the Wild

A bear, a moose, and a beaver decide they're finally going to go camping, and they find the perfect spot right next to a lake. The moose has brought along a camping guide with tips such as: make sure your tent poles and guidelines are securely tied; never leave a campfire unattended; and keep your food packed away in a secure container...none of which they follow! Who would want to work when there is fun to be had? Naturally, one thing after another goes wrong, so, naturally, they start blaming each other. Lucky for them, though, the wild is a great place to be reminded of the most important thing of all: Everything is better when they work together!

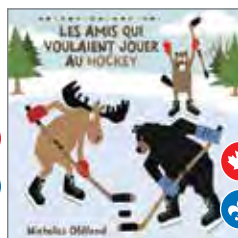

Nicholas Oldland's hugely popular picture-book series is treasured for its lovable if imperfect characters and their humorous approach to life. And while the stories are filled with their misadventures and mishaps, the friends always learn heartwarming life lessons. This funny, contemporary fable champions the rewards of hard work and the joys of nature and the wild outdoors, and it makes a terrific read-aloud. Oldland's distinctive expressive illustrations chronicle the action with plenty of visual humour, making this a great choice for younger pre-readers, too. As with all the books in the series, this one offers excellent character education lessons on the importance of teamwork.

NICHOLAS OLDLAND enjoyed success as a commercial artist before taking up the role of creative director at Hatley and Little Blue House, popular apparel companies he runs with his brothers. He is the author-illustrator of the Life in the Wild series and 10, 9, 8 dinosaures. Nicholas lives in Toronto, Ontario, with his family.

Grognon, la grue

Cranky

From the #1 New York Times bestselling illustrator of the Food Group series, Pete Oswald, and debut picture book author Phuc Tran, this is a hilarious picture book about big trucks, big feelings, and even bigger friendships!

It's the last day at the construction site and Cranky the crane truck is feeling, well, cranky. And he doesn't want to talk about it. His friends Zippy, Wheezy, and Dump Chuck try to cheer him up. But you know what doesn't help when you're feeling cranky? A lot of talking.

But what will help?

With Phuc Tran's hilarious text and Pete Oswald's bold, expressive illustrations, this tale shows young readers how kind friends and honesty are the ideal tools for navigating strong emotions. Perfect for fans of Grumpy Monkey and construction vehicles.

PHUC TRAN is an award-winning writer, tattooer, and Latin teacher (for which he has won no awards). Grognon, la grue is his first children's book. Phuc lives in Portland, Maine, with his wife (who is rarely cranky) and his two daughters (who are sometimes cranky). "Phuc" is pronounced like "Luke" but with an F.

PETE OSWALD is a fine-arts painter, an animator, an author, and an illustrator. He illustrated the New York Times bestselling books La mauvaise graine, L'œuf modèle, and Le pois chic by Jory John. He has also worked as a character designer and concept artist on the movies Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa, Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs, and the Oscar-nominated ParaNorman. Pete lives in Los Angeles, California, with his wife and their three sons.

★ PRAISE

" Kids will come for the construction vehicles and leave with some social-emotional skills. "

~ Kirkus Reviews

" With a perpetual frown and lidded eyes, Grognon is wonderfully endearing (though don't tell Grognon that). This makes an ideal opportunity to discuss big feelings with little ones who like big trucks. "

Retour à Bramble Falls

Falling Like Leaves

Gilmore Girls meets Jenny Han in this autumnal teen rom-com about a city girl stuck in a quaint small town who must confront her future and her old flame while the town prepares for an annual fall festival.

Ellis has a lot of expectations for her senior year, but moving from Manhattan to Bramble Falls, Connecticut is not one of them. Yet in the wake of her parents' separation, that's exactly where she and her mother are headed.

Bramble Falls might be charming, but it's also full of distractions. Like local barista Cooper Barnett, Ellis's one-time best friend—and first kiss—who has not only majorly glowed up but wants nothing to do with Ellis.

Then there's the Falling Leaves Festival, a month-long tourist attraction run by Ellis's aunt, celebrating everything autumn. The festival seems nice and all, but Ellis doesn't have time to be roped into her aunt's enthusiastic planning. Dragged to each event, she can't stop bumping into Cooper, the one person she's hoping to avoid.

But the longer she stays in Bramble Falls, the harder it is to pretend she's not falling for this town and the people in it. As her return to Manhattan gets pushed further and further out, Ellis is forced to confront exactly what she wants for her future—and what that means for her present.

MISTY WILSON is the author of Falling Like Leaves and Play Like a Girl, her award-winning debut middle grade graphic memoir. Misty is a teacher, registered nurse, and a voracious reader. She loves binge-watching television series and adores rom-coms. She lives in Northeast Ohio with her husband and their two daughters.

Les bas du pensionnat

Fatty Legs

Eight-year-old Margaret Pokiak has set her sights on learning to read, even though it means leaving her village in the high Arctic. Faced with unceasing pressure, her father finally agrees to let her make the five-day journey to attend school, but he warns Margaret of the terrors of residential schools.

At school Margaret soon encounters the Raven, a black-cloaked nun with a hooked nose and bony fingers that resemble claws. She immediately dislikes the strong-willed young Margaret. Intending to humiliate her, the heartless Raven gives gray stockings to all the girls—all except Margaret, who gets red ones. In an instant Margaret is the laughingstock of the entire school. In the face of such cruelty, Margaret refuses to be intimidated and bravely gets rid of the stockings.

Although a sympathetic nun stands up for Margaret, in the end it is this brave young girl who gives the Raven a lesson in the power of human dignity. Complemented by archival photos from Margaret Pokiak-Fenton's collection and striking artworks from Liz Amini-Holmes, this inspiring first-person account of a plucky girl's determination to confront her tormentor will linger with young readers.

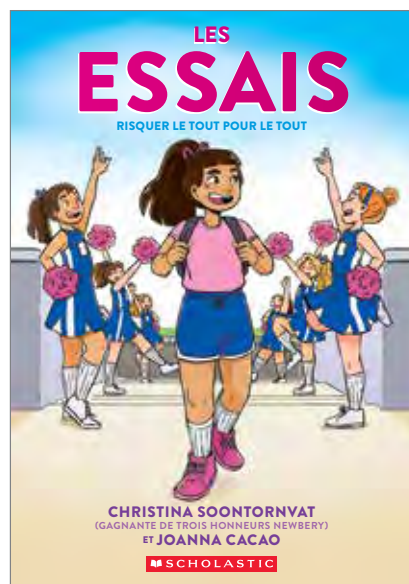

This updated edition includes updates to the text; a new preface by Christy Jordan-Fenton reflecting on the book's impact and a piece on her writing process with Margaret-Olemaun; and a new foreword by Dr. Debbie Reese, noted Indigenous scholar and founder of American Indians in Children's Literature.

MARGARET-OLEMAUN POKIAK-FENTON was an author, Inuvialut knowledge keeper, and residential school survivor. Along with her daughter-in-law, she wrote Étrangère chez moi, Les bas du pensionnat, and Quand j'avais huit ans. The books have garnered more than twenty awards and distinctions, including being placed on the Canadian Children's Book Centre's Best Books for Kids & Teens list.

CHRISTY JORDAN-FENTON was born on a farm in rural Alberta and always dreamed of writing stories. Today, she is the co-author of Étrangère chez moi, Les bas du pensionnat, and Quand j'avais huit ans. She lives in Fort St. John, B.C. with her family.

LIZ AMINI-HOLMES lives in the San Francisco Bay Area with her family and ever-growing menagerie of pets. When Liz is not illustrating, she is working on a Masters in Art Therapy, teaching, and obsessively reading and watching detective stories.

The attractive, expressive illustrations feature clean lines and bright colours. A funny, painfully honest look at a middle schooler finding her way. "

From the incomparable Jon Klassen, a trio of companion board books for the youngest of children, focusing on safe spaces, comfort, and imagination. This collection signals both a departure for Klassen and stories whose peculiar touches of whimsy stamp the books as iconically his.

Ta ferme

Your Farm

*This is your sun.
It is coming up for you.
This is your tree.
It can go under the sun.*

With a minimal tableau of familiar objects and a gentle rhythm suited for reading aloud, a farm and all its items—a horse and its hay, a truck, a stool, a fence—are assembled, ending with bedtime as the sun goes down. This is a farm for a young child to have whenever they want to go there.

Ta forêt

Your Forest

*This is your sun.
It is coming up for you.
These are your trees.
They can go over by the sun.*

With a minimal tableau of familiar objects and a gentle rhythm suited for reading aloud, a forest and all its items—a cabin, some rocks, a (nice) forest ghost, a stream, a bridge—are assembled, ending with bedtime as the sun goes down. This is a forest for a young child to have whenever they want to go there.

Ton île

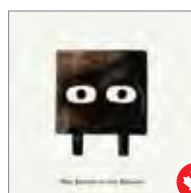

Your Island

*This is your sun.
It is coming up for you.
This is your palm tree.
It can go over by the sun.*

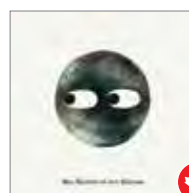

With a minimal tableau of familiar objects and a gentle rhythm suited for reading aloud, an island and all its items—a tent, a fire, a boat, a bird—are assembled, ending with bedtime as the sun goes down. This is an island for a young child to have whenever they want to go there.

JON KLASSEN is an animator and Governor General's Award-winning creator of children's books. His book Ce n'est pas mon chapeau won both the American Caldecott Medal and the British Kate Greenaway Medal, making Jon the first person to win both awards for the same work. Jon was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, and currently resides in Los Angeles.

Un Noël anichinabé

An Anishinaabe Christmas

A festive, joyful Indigenous picture book that explores both Christmas traditions and Anishinaabe culture.

One winter solstice, Mommy says, "Baby, we're going home to the Rez. We're going to have an Anishinaabe Christmas." But this is Baby's first Christmas away from the city, and they're worried! They have a lot of questions:

How will Santa know where to find them?

Why do we have presents on Christmas?

How come they're going home to the Rez but don't live there?

On the long trip to Mooshom's and Kookom's, Baby learns about animals being part of their family, about the North Star leading them home and even the meanings of some Anishinaabe words. Will this Anishinaabe Christmas be Baby's best yet?

WAB KINEW is a bestselling, award-winning author. A member of the Midewin and an Honorary Witness for the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada, he is a former journalist, hip-hop artist, and television host. Kinew lives in Winnipeg with his family.

ERIN HILL is an Indigenous artist based in Oakville, Ontario. They are a graduate from the Illustration program at Sheridan College. ★ PRAISE

" A heartwarming and beautifully crafted book that shares the joy of Christmas through the lens of Anishinaabe culture. "

~ School Library Journal, starred review

" Wab Kinew has crafted a lovely story about a family celebrating Christmas in their traditional Anishinaabe way. Hill's digitally painted illustrations are bright and colourful and help to tell the story with pictures of family and the changing landscape that they are travelling through. Joyeux Noël, père Noël!

Santa's First Christmas

Mac Barnett and Sydney Smith team up for an unforgettable celebration of Christmas.

We all know that Santa makes everyone's dreams come true every Christmas, but it turns out that he needs a little help getting into the holiday spirit himself. Instead of letting Santa get right back to work after he returns home to the North Pole on Christmas morning, his loyal elves want to make sure he experiences the same Christmas cheer he provides for others. With the perfect tree, lots of delicious treats, and, of course, presents, Santa experiences the magic of Christmas for the very first time.

Beloved children's book creators Mac Barnett and Sydney Smith have unveiled Santa unlike ever seen before, and as a result, created a merry new Christmas classic.

MAC BARNETT is the New York Times bestselling author of many picture books, including Le loup, le canard et la souris; the Caldecott Honor Book and E.B. White Read Aloud Award-winner Max et Sam creusent, creusent, creusent...; and the Caldecott Honor Book and Boston Globe-Horn Book Award-winner Extra doux. He is also the co-author of the bestselling Terrible Two series with Jory John. Mac lives in Oakland, California.

SYDNEY SMITH is the author and illustrator of Small in the City, which received a silver medal from the Society of Illustrators. Other books he has illustrated include The White Cat and the Monk by Jo Ellen Bogart; Sidewalk Flowers by JonArno Lawson; and Town Is by the Sea by Joanne Schwartz, which was awarded the 2018 Kate Greenaway Medal. His accolades include two Governor General's Awards for Illustrated Children's Books and four New York Times Best Illustrated Children's Book of the Year citations. He lives in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

★ PRAISE

"Offering moments of abundance, laughter, and surprise, the creative duo's assembly of classic yuletide elements gives readers a chance to encounter an old holiday anew—freshly through the eyes of its most iconic figure."

"A feel-good holiday story that will warm hearts for Christmases to come. Holiday collections will welcome this gift."

~ School Library Journal, starred review

"It is hard to say which is more wonderful, Mr. Barnett's droll and low-key narration or Mr. Smith's soft, warm, humorous pictures. Warm and funny and delightful, Joyeux Noël, père Noël! is likely to become an annual read-aloud in families with young children."

Si tu vois un merlebleu

If You See a Bluebird

For young Ali, a former refugee from Afghanistan, "home" is where his family is together.

Although his family is safe in their new country, Ali finds himself wishing he could go back to Afghanistan. A day spent picking blackberries with Nana reminds him of their old house with the mulberry tree he loved and the day the soldiers came. He recalls their nighttime flight and the crowded buses and airplane that took him to this beautiful but unfamiliar place. When Ali and Nana spot a bluebird, she tells him to make a wish. Ali wishes to go home, but, as he comes to learn, home is not a place. Home is the love his family has for each other.

In Si tu vois un merlebleu, Bahram Rahman reflects on the experience of former refugees as they learn to adapt and embrace a new country and a new home. Award-winning illustrator Gabrielle Grimard incorporates rich and varied colour palettes to capture Ali's two worlds.

BAHRAM RAHMAN was born in Kabul, Afghanistan, and grew up during the civil war and the first Taliban regime. He wrote Le bibliobus, his first picture book, to document the struggle for education experienced by the women in his own family and to draw attention to the barriers that still exist for millions of children, especially girls, living in war-torn countries today.

From the time she was little GABRIELLE GRIMARD loved art, dismayed her elementary school teachers by constantly drawing in class. Later Gabrielle studied art in high school and university. After her son was born, she began illustrating children's books and has now created more than twenty-five, including Quand j'avais huit ans, Les mots volés, and Où est ma fille?. Lila et la corneille is the first book she both wrote and illustrated. She uses watercolours, gouache, and oil to create images of amazing warmth and depth. Gabrielle lives near Montreal, Quebec.

★ PRAISE

"The story thrums with the sadness of places left behind and the danger that forces people to leave.... The vivid illustrations demarcate the past and present by contrasting the bright blue skies and rolling green plains of Ali's new home with the rustic terracotta hues of his homeland. A sweetly sentimental story that places people at the heart of a home."

Ensemble! : Un livre sur la communauté

Together: A Book About Community

A new picture book by Elise Gravel all about how to support one another, stand up for those who don't have a voice, and build stronger communities.

Together we are stronger.

Together we can make a difference.

And together we make a community.

With her signature quirky monsters, beloved children's book author Elise Gravel explains the importance of working together and creating community. Other people take care of us when we're sick or hurt, teach us things, and protect us. They help us in many ways, even if being surrounded by other people can sometimes make us feel bad or angry.

Poignant and relevant, Elise emphasizes the importance of friendship, creating support systems, and how through connection and support, we can ensure that everyone in our communities is taken care of and safe. Our communities take care of us and we have to take care of our communities.

ELISE GRAVEL has won a Governor General's Award for illustration, the Vicky Metcalf Award for Literature for Young People, the Rights and Freedoms Award from the Quebec Commission des droits de la personne et des droits de la jeunesse, two Applied Arts Awards and a Grafika Award. She also was short-listed for Mr. Christie's Book Award. She has written and illustrated over thirty books for children in both French and English including Pas moi, Tout le monde!, C'est mon corps!, and C'est mon cerveau!. Quelle perfection, cet avion!

The Perfect Paper Airplane

When Kevin's dad shows him how to make paper airplanes, he sets out to make the best one ever. He tries and tries and eventually makes a good one — and when he throws it, it just keeps on flying: around the house, to school with him, out chasing dad's fishing boat. Will it ever come back to earth?

ROBERT MUNSCH started telling stories when he was teaching in a daycare, to get the kids to settle down. Now he is Canada's number one author for young readers with more than 80 books in print, including such bestsellers as La princesse dans un sac, On partage tout!, La tempête du siècle, and Love You Forever. Every one of his stories was first told aloud to children — and each one is dedicated to the kid who inspired the story. He is a member of the Order of Canada, has a star on Canada's Walk of Fame, and is a hero to generations of young readers. In 2021 he was nominated for the prestigious international Astrid Lindgren Award. Robert Munsch lives in Guelph, Ontario.

MICHAEL MARTCHENKO has illustrated dozens of books, and is most famous for his work with Robert Munsch, including Tes chaussettes sentent la mouffette!, Maquillage à gogo, and On partage tout!. He lives in Burlington, Ontario.

Frisson l'écureuil : Un recueil de cinq histoires

Nuts About Scaredy Squirrel: Five Classic Stories

A collection of five hilarious stories starring Frisson – everyone's favourite worrywart!

Frisson l'écureuil would rather stay safe and secure in his nut tree than risk venturing out into the great unknown. There are so many hazards out there! But every now and then, when he does take a brave step outside his comfort zone, Frisson discovers something new and exciting. And somehow, the thing he didn't want to do turns out to be the best thing he's ever done!

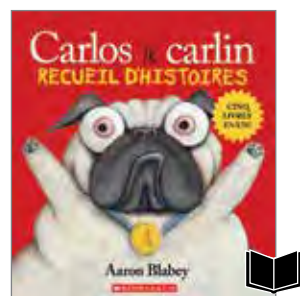

Now Frisson l'écureuil fans can get these five bestselling titles in one hardcover edition:

- Frisson l'écureuil
- Frisson l'écureuil se fait un ami
- Frisson l'écureuil à la plage
- Frisson l'écureuil en pleine nuit
- Frisson l'écureuil fête son anniversaire

Readers of all ages love Melanie Watt's sweetly vulnerable, lovable Frisson. Children relate to his numerous fears of the unfamiliar – both the real, possible threats and the outlandish ones – while being in on the joke of how his checklists, schedules and detailed plans never quite prepare Frisson the way he thinks they will and usually weren't needed in the first place! By working through his apprehensions, Frisson l'écureuil shows readers it's okay to take risks and do the thing you think you can't do. These stories are excellent for teaching character-education lessons on courage, adaptability and perseverance. This hardcover edition makes a perfect collectible or gift for Frisson l'écureuil fans of any age.

Author-illustrator MÉLANIE WATT, born in Trois-Rivières, has won prestigious awards for her work, including the Ruth and Sylvia Schwartz Children's Book Award, the Blue Spruce Award, and the Amelia Frances Howard-Gibbon Illustrator's Award, all for her series Frisson l'écureuil. She is the bestselling creative genius behind many beloved picture books for children, including the Chester series, La mouche dans l'aspirateur, and Les aventures de Frisson.

Le garçon qui ne voulait pas mourir : La bande dessinée

The Boy Who Didn't Want to Die

A story of survival, of love between mother and son, and of enduring hope in the face of unspeakable hardship, this graphic memoir describes an extraordinary journey, made by Peter, a boy of five, through war-torn Europe in 1944 and 1945.

Peter and his parents set out from a small Hungarian town, travelling through Austria and then Germany together. Along the way, unforgettable images of adventure flash one after another: sleeping in a tent and then under the sky, discovering a disused brick factory, catching butterflies in the meadows, and—as Peter realises that this adventure is really a nightmare—watching bombs falling from the blue sky outside Vienna, learning maths from his mother in the Belsen concentration camp.

All this is drawn against a background of terror, starvation, infection, and, inevitably, death, before Peter and his mother can return home.

Professor PETER LANTOS is a Fellow of the Academy of Medical Sciences and in his previous life was an internationally renowned clinical neuroscientist. His memoir, Parallel Lines, was translated into Hungarian, German, and Italian. Peter was awarded the British Empire Medal in 2020 for “services to Holocaust education and awareness”. He is one of the last of the generation of survivors and Le garçon qui ne voulait pas mourir—his first book for children—serves as a testimony to his experience. Peter lives in London.

VICTORIA STEBLEVA is an internationally published illustrator currently living in Nish, Serbia. The variety of her work is quite large, from illustrations for children’s books to editorial illustrations on socially important topics for media. Victoria is fond of motorbike traveling, nonfiction literature, rock music, and cats.

Le dragon de la boulangerie

The Bakery Dragon

The heroic tale of a tiny dragon with a heart of gold and a taste for treats! A scrumptious picture book for fans of funny fairy tales and fantastic beasts.

Ember has always been different from the other dragons. His fearsome roar sounds more like a polite sneeze, and when he breathes fire, the villagers just pat his head and say aww.

Ember fears he'll never collect a respectable hoard of gold until a chance encounter with a baker causes his fortunes to turn (and his stomach to grumble). As the little dragon soon discovers, the gold you make is way better than the gold you steal—and gold that is shared? That's best of all.

Magic shimmers on every page of Devin Elle Kurtz's feel-good picture book that celebrates baked goods, dragons, and generosity in equal measure. Filled with adorable illustrations, this is a perfect read aloud for bedtime or brunchtime!

DEVIN ELLE KURTZ lives in Pasadena with her dog, Kira, and her thirty-three houseplants. She has worked in the animation industry as a background painter/designer and visual development artist since 2017. She was the lead background painter on Disenchantment at Rough Draft Studios from 2019-2021, and has contributed to publications such as Beasts of the Four Nations, Escape from Atlantis, How to Heal a Gryphon, and Mother of Sharks. Le dragon de la boulangerie is her first picture book as an author-illustrator.

★ PRAISE
