BEWARE OF BRAINSTORMS

* THURSDAY *

Dear Diary,

Today in Ms. Collier's class I learned a new word: brainstorming. Nope, it doesn't mean creating a storm with mind power. It means coming up with a bunch of ideas. Aren't Groundlings (also known as humans) so funny?

Our class was learning all about simple machines. Ms. Collier gave us a challenge: We had to use simple machines to move a jumbo marshmallow from one side of the classroom to the other without touching it at all.

If it were up to me, I would just create a blast of wintry wind to blow the marshmallow across the room—but of course I couldn't do that. My winter magic powers are a complete secret when I'm at school with Groundlings. The only person who knows about my powers is my best friend, Claudia. Luckily that's exactly who I was partnered up with.

Our "brainstorms":

- * Wedge: Use a ramp to get that marshmallow rolling!
- * Wheel and Axle: Build a mini race car for the marshmallow to ride in!
- * Pulley: Make a zip line and send that marshmallow soaring overhead!

We decided the pulley idea was the most fun. While we were sketching out our plan, I tried to ask Claudia some sneaky questions.

“So . . .” I began. “Our family is having game night tonight. Don’t you just love board games?”

Claudia shrugged. “Yeah, they’re fun.”

“Right,” I said. “But not as fun as making crafts. Don’t you just love craft supplies?”

She looked at me funny. “Yeah, craft supplies are good . . .”

“Don’t you wish you had a kit full of new craft supplies? Or beads? Don’t you just love beads?”

Claudia put her hands on her hips.

“Lina, what is all this about?”

“Your birthday is coming up, and I don’t know what to get you!” I blurted.

Claudia laughed. “Is that all? You know you don't have to get me anything special."

Yes, of course I know I don't have to. But I want to, Diary. Claudia is my best friend, and she's the only person on Earth (literally) who knows that I'm actually an ice princess who lives in a castle in the clouds. Plus, Claudia always gets me perfect presents. This year she got me gloves knitted with conductive thread so I can still play video games even if I'm in the middle of a blizzard!

"Well, what are your parents getting you?" I asked.

“They promised me that this year I could finally get a puppy . . .”

Perfect! I’d get Claudia a collar for her new dog!

“ . . . but then last week we learned my dad is allergic.” She sighed sadly. “The best I can hope for is a gecko.”

Diary, I feel so bad for Claudia. She has always wanted a dog. Whatever present I come up with for her needs to be so good that she'll forget all about wanting a puppy.
